SLADE ATTACKED BY PROSECUTOR

Tanzer Case Witness Who Identified J. W. Osborne as Oliver a Perjurer.

Jury's Verdict, Returned Late Last Night. Recommends Clemency.

Franklin D. Safford, the Plainfield hotel clerk, was found guilty of perjury in the Federal court at 10:25 o'clock last night, after the jury had deliberated for more than eight hours

Two minutes after the verdict had been brought in to Judge Hough and the customary motions for an appeal made, a fight took place between As-sistant United States Attorney Roger B. Wood and Benjamin Slade, of the firm of Slade & Slade, original counsel Rae Tanzer, on whose visit to the w Jersey town Safford swore James Osborne and not Oliver had accompanied her.

As the jury, hemmed in on either side by spectators and court attendants, left the room Mr. Wood approached Harry Cassel, juror No. 3, and spoke to him.

"What is this, a private conversation!" shouted Slade.

Judge Hough replied that as he had of seen the blow and as court had ad-surned, he would not reconvene it, but ould look into the matter this mornwould look into the matter this morn-ing. He told Slade that he had the right to obtain the names of witnesses who had seen the blow, and the law-yers set about getting them. Wood's story declares that Slade told him he was intimidating one of the jurors, and that he asked an attend-ant to have the lawyer removed from the room before any blows were struck.

"Remember, some of the people here have guns with them!" he shouted. David Slade said after the incident: ish he had hit me instead of my her. If I had been struck I would locked up to-night for what I'd have

U. S. REJECTS COURT TRIAL OVER FRYE

Asks Germany to Settle Case by Diplomatic Negotiations.

REAFFIRMS STAND ON LONDON DECLARATION

Admission That Sinking of Ship Was Violation of Treaty Is Accepted.

(From The Tribune Bureau.)
Washington, May 5. The American government in its recent note to Germany on the sinking of the William P. Frye by the Prinz Eitel Friedrich rejects the offer of the German govern. ment to place the disposition of the case in a prize court. It also rejects the offer of the German government to pay for the cargo of the Frye, and re-peats its assertion that it does not regard the Declaration of London as in Germany's admission that the sinking of the Frye was a violation of the treaty stipulation between the United States and Prussia is accepted, and the suggestion is made that further negotiations be conducted through the German Embassy here. The note, sent on April 29, was not made public until today. It follows:

Declines Prize Court Offer.

"In reply to your excellency's note of the 5th inst., which the government of the United States understands admits the liability of the imperial German government for the damages resulting from the sinking of the American sailing vessel William P. Frye by the German auxiliary cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich on January 28 last, I have the honor to say, by direction of my government, that while the promptness with which the imperial German government has admitted its liability is highly appreciated, my government feels that it would be inappropriate in the circumstances of this case and would involve unnecessary delay to adopt the suggestion in your note that the legality of the capture and destruction, the standing of the claimants and the amount of indemnity should be submitted to a prize court.

"Unquestionably, the destruction of this vessel was a violation of the obligations imposed upon the imperial German government under existing treaty stimulations between the United States and Prussia, and the United States government, by virtue of its treaty rights, has presented to the imperial German government a claim for indemnity on account of the resulting damages suffered by American citizens.

"Settle by Negotiations." have the honor to say, by direction of

"Settle by Negotiations."

"The liability of the imperial Ger-man government and the standing of the claimants as American citizens and the claimants as American citizens and the amount of indemnity are all questions which lend themselves to diplomatic negotiations between the two governments, and happily the question of liability has aircady been settled in that way. The status of the claimants and the amount of indemnity are the only questions remaining to be settled, and it appropriate that they should

Hampton Furniture for the Country Dining Room

HE air of buoyant cheeriness, which should make of the sunny Country House Dining Room one of the most delightsome of garhering places, may be enhanced by the apt selection of its furniture.

Comparatively easy will that task be found if recourse be had to those Hampton Shops Reproductions which reflect the charming Sheraton tradition — the hospitable round Table, for instance, surrounded by the quaintly backed but comfortable Chairs, or the bow-fronted Side Table whose delicate carvings and slender tapering legs give to it a touch of aristocratic distinction.
